

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

Meet Jeremy Wilder, Maintenance Worker for the City of Winter Springs. As a member of the Winter Springs Public Works Department, Jeremy helps maintain and repair much of the essential infrastructure for the City.

From maintaining sidewalks, trimming trees, fixing streets, and maintaining stormwater systems, Jeremy says the variety in the type of work he does every day means he's always engaged and gives him a sense of accomplishment. "It's good to feel accomplished to get stuff done. It's good for your soul; it's good for your spirit, for sure." Jeremy says.

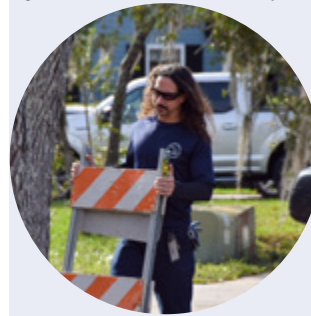

When he is not at work, Jeremy enjoys some of his favorite hobbies, like kiting, paddleboarding, or hiking in great outdoor areas around Winter Springs.

"Kiting is usually something I'll do after work. Kiting and paddleboarding when the weather's a little warmer," Jeremy said.

A Winter Springs High School graduate, Jeremy said growing up in the Winter Springs area and his love of the outdoors are just a few reasons he chose to work for the City.

He said that the team he is working with now is fantastic and that the people you work with can make a difference in his job experience.

"The group of guys I'm working with right now are awesome; that really makes a difference to me," he said.

Jeremy's co-workers feel the same way about him. They say his positive attitude and dedication to teamwork are just some of the qualities that make him such a great addition to the Winter Springs Public Works team.
